Passed away in Merrylands - March 17th 2016
Aged 95 years
Thomas Francis McMahon (Tom)

Tom was born in Tasmania, he was one of five, who grew up on farms across the north of the island and on King Island. Like many of his generation he left home early, seeking work to contribute to the family, and eventually joining the RAAF and becoming an aircraft mechanic. He served in Darwin throughout the war.

He married Phyllis Wye of Stanley in Melbourne and they settled in Corowa in the early fifties. Tom worked for Campbell Motors and the Corowa Shire, was very involved with the football club and the fire brigade, living in the fire house for many years, before moving to Berrigan Shire as the head mechanic. Tom and Phyllis had five children – Terry, Shirley, Phillip, Denise and Tom Jnr.

Tom and Phyllis retired to Cardinal Gilroy Village in Merrylands where he has led a busy retirement bowling and golfing and actively supporting the community.

Passed away peacefully on March 17th, aged 95.
